In collaboration with the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, Johns Hopkins HealthCare is currently looking for Registered Nurses for:

Geriatric Nurses

Based in a primary care practice, will receive comprehensive training and will then work with 3-4 primary care physicians to provide the following ongoing services for 50-60 chronically ill older patients and their caregivers:

- Conduct comprehensive assessments in patients' homes
- Plan comprehensive chronic care collaboratively with physicians, patients and caregivers
- Monitor chronic conditions and coach patients and caregivers in self-management and lifestyle improvement
- Coordinate care among multiple providers
- Coordinate transitions between sites of care
- Facilitate access to community services
- Maintain electronic health records

Requirements: Licensed RN with at least three years of home care, case management, community health and/or equivalent community-based geriatric nursing. Must have affinity for working with chronically ill older patients and their caregivers. Must have good communication, coaching and problem solving skills. Must be comfortable using electronic health records.

JHHC offers a comprehensive benefits package, to include employee and dependent tuition reimbursement. Forward resumes to: Johns Hopkins Healthcare LLC, Human Resources, 6704 Curtis Court, Glen Burnie, MD 21060.
